The MP also praised the environmental advisor's commitment to the area following a visit to Langstone by a top official from the agency.

Senior Natural England official Graham Horton said: "If local decision-makers can formally agree on an appropriate scheme of engineering works that recognises the environmental sensitivities in this area, Natural England will support appropriate works to protect Langstone Mill Pond and nearby sea defences whilst maintaining an access route for walkers.”

"Natural England plays an essential role in protecting our local environment and is a valued partner.

"I'm grateful for its expertise, commitment and help to make progress on this issue, which I've been working on for much of this year.

"I hope local decision-makers can now move forward and formally agree on an appropriate scheme of engineering works in 2024."

The Conservancy's Board and officers review and approve applications for repair works in and around the Harbour.

Mr Mak recently secured the visit from senior Natural England official Graham Horton to inspect the Mill Pond, nearby sea defences and the footpath that provides access from Wade Lane.

Mr Horton confirmed that if local decision-makers can formally agree on an appropriate scheme of engineering works, Natural England would support the protection of the Langstone Mill Pond, the repair of a nearby sea wall and the maintenance of the footpath.

Whilst Mr Mak is not himself a decision-maker, he has been working on this issue for most of 2023 and has secured the agreement of all key decision-makers to attend a meeting he will chair in the first quarter of 2024.

Mr Mak said he hopes his high-level meeting bringing together these various bodies will reach an agreement on a way forward and an appropriate action plan.
